NOTICE OF EXPIRY OF YOUR LEASE

Lease TEST-LSE-0001 · issued 1 February 2027

1. THE LEASE

Lessee	TEST Lessee Holdings (2020/000001/07)
Lease reference	TEST-LSE-0001
Goods	2025 Testmake Loader 9000, serial SN-TEST-001
Expiry date	30 June 2027

2. WHAT THIS NOTICE IS

Your lease of the goods above is for a fixed term and expires on 30 June 2027. The Consumer Protection Act, 2008 applies to it, and this notice tells you what you may do before that date.

3. YOUR OPTIONS AT EXPIRY

Return the goods	Return the goods to the lessor on or before the expiry date. The goods are inspected on return; damage beyond fair wear and tear, and any usage above the contracted usage, is invoiced.
Extend month to month	Continue the lease month to month on the same rentals. You may end the extension on 20 business days' written notice, and we on one month's notice (section 4.1).
Buy the goods	Buy the goods from the lessor at their fair market value on a valuation dated shortly before the purchase. The price is not fixed in the lease agreement.

4. IF YOU DO NOTHING

4.1 Consequences of taking no action before the expiry date

If you have not told us your choice by 30 June 2027, your lease does not simply end. As this agreement provides, it then continues month to month after the expiry date. Section 14(2)(d) of the CPA does not apply to a juristic lessee, but this agreement gives you the same terms as the CPA gives a natural-person consumer. It continues on the same terms, at the same monthly rental (and maintenance, if your lease includes it) as your last rental: no material change applies to the continued lease.

While it continues you keep the goods, pay the rental each month, and keep the goods insured and in good condition as your lease agreement requires. You may end the month-to-month lease at any time by giving us at least 20 business days' written notice; it ends on the date in your notice, not earlier than 20 business days after it. We may end it by giving you one month's written notice. You then return the goods, which are inspected, and any damage beyond fair wear and tear and any usage above the contracted usage are invoiced.

If you do not want the lease to continue, tell us in writing before 30 June 2027 that it must end on that date, and return the goods to us on or before then.

4.2 How to tell us your choice

Tell us your choice through our client portal, or by written notice to us, which may be sent by email to the address in section 5. Your choice is final once we have recorded it, and we confirm it to you in writing.
