Present value of the rentals (ex VAT and maintenance) falling due after 2027-03-15, discounted at the contract rate, plus a penalty of 10.00% of that present value, plus the arrears. The asset is returned; no credit is given for its resale value. The lessee is a consumer under the CPA: cancellation on 20 business days' notice (s14(2)(b)(i)(bb)); the penalty is limited to a reasonable cancellation penalty, weighing CPA Regulation 5(2): the amount of the agreement, the length of notice given.

5. TERMS OF THIS QUOTE

5.1 Your cancellation

You gave us notice on 23 February 2027 to cancel your lease, as this agreement allows on 20 business days' notice. Section 14(2)(b)(i)(bb) of the CPA does not apply to a juristic lessee, but this agreement gives you the same terms as it gives a natural-person consumer. Your lease therefore ends on 15 March 2027, whether or not you accept or pay this quote. The 14 rentals that would fall due after that date are cancelled. You return the goods on that date; they are inspected, and any damage beyond fair wear and tear, any usage above the contracted usage and, on a full-maintenance lease, the settlement of the maintenance fund are invoiced separately on the end-of-term tax invoice. They are not part of this quote.

5.2 The cancellation charge

You remain liable for the amounts owed up to 15 March 2027, and the lessor may charge only a reasonable cancellation penalty, as this agreement provides. This quote states that charge. The cancellation penalty is the lessor's reasonable loss: (a) the present value, on the cancellation date, of the rentals (excl. VAT and maintenance) that would have fallen due after it, discounted at the contract rate; less (b) the net amount the lessor realises, or can reasonably expect to realise, by selling or letting the returned goods, after the reasonable costs of doing so. It is never more than the lessee would have paid had the lease run its full term, no further penalty is added, and it is determined having regard to regulation 5(2) of the CPA Regulations.

The lessor issues one tax invoice for the charge, plus VAT, due on 15 March 2027. The arrears are already due. Default interest runs on any amount not paid by its due date, as the lease agreement provides.

5.3 If you disagree with the charge

Tell the lessor, using the contacts in section 6. You may also refer a dispute to the National Consumer Commission or a court. A dispute does not delay your cancellation.

6. HOW TO REACH US

Your cancellation does not depend on accepting this quote. Pay the invoice by its due date, or tell the lessor if you dispute the charge.
